PENSION POINTERS.

leggirles Answered and Sugg stions Made.

E. B. T. Frederick, Md.—If you did not receive the $100 additional bounty al-lowed by ass of July 28, 1860, it is now too late for you to apply for same, as the law expired by limitation on June 30, 1880. What you state as to the rejection of your claim for increase of your special-act pen-sion does not controvert what was stated in this colsum. Your statement shows that the more resent rejections in your case have been en the ground that your condi-tion from pensioned disability does not justify a higher rate than you are now re-

Mrs. N. D., Bellfonte, Pa.-The widow of a soldier of the war of the rebeliou may take up 160 acres of land under the homestead mw the same as could the soidier himseif. It is held that she must live upon and cultivate the land, the same as would be required of the soldier. Of course, she is not required to personally get out and work in the fields, but she must personally live on the land, make her home there, and supervise the improvements and work upon the land. For full information address the "Commissioner of the General Land Office, Washington,

A. A. W., Chicago, Ill.—Unless the widow was married to the soldier before or during his service, her general law pension cannot be restored after the death or divorce of the second husband. If the second husband was also a soldier and died of disability having its origin in the service and line of duty, she could obtain a new pension under the general law, the fact that she was married (remarried) to him after June 26, 1890, not being a bar to such pension. Of course, she could not claim pension under the act of 1890 on account of the service of her second husband, because she was not married to him until after June 26, 1890.

H. H. C. Ottawa, Kan.—As you did not enlist until after July 22, 1861, you would not in any event be benefited by the bounty law of 1888 not "1868." The three-years volunteers referred to are those who enlisted under the call of May 3, 1861-the first call for three years troops. You enlisted under the second call, which was authorized by act of July 22, 1861,

Subscriber, Cedar Falls, Iowa.—The various branches of the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers will admit ex-soldiers regardless of their place of resi-dence. The various State Homes are designed primarily for residents of the State. Address a lesser to the "Governor" of the Home which you wish to enter. The Homes, at least the National Homes, do not receive any one but the soldiers them-selves: the families are not provided for. The fact that a private bill for increase of pension by special act was introduced at the beginning of the present session of Congress affords no indication as to when it will become a law, if ever. The pas-sage of a private pension bill through Con-gress requires something more than the mere fact that it has been introduced. In general only the bills that are strongly general only the bills that are strongly pressed by the Congressmen introducing with him until a short time before his death in 1899; and now, when he is dead for a member to get through all the bills that he is interested in, simply because with the limited number of sessions devoted to this sort of legislation and the large number of Representatives, it is practically impossible, on the principle of turn and turn about, for every member to get through all the bills he is interested to get through all the bills he is interested

Wm. B.—What you refer to is a decision of the Secretary of the Interior, of special interest to Spanish war soldiers, that if it be shown by satisfactory evidence that for a period after discharge the soldier was wholly mable, in consecution of disability of service origin, to perform any sort of manual labor, the rate of $30 per month, allowed by law for such

C. R., Sheldon, Mo.—If the official number of a pending pension claim has been lost, it can be obtained by inquiry at the Pension Bureau, with the statement that the official notice of the number has been lost and the number forgotten.

A. M. W., Bradford, Pa.—If the pensioner is dissatisfied with the increase allowed, there is no objection to his holding lowed, there is no objection to his holding the new certificate and voucher pending the new centificate and voiceer pending the decision on appeal from the action of the Pension Bureau in allowing him less than his disabilities entitled him to. Probably he can accept the increase allowed without invalidating his appeal, as his appeal shows that he accepts the increase granted under protest.

J. C. T., Faribault, Minn.—Where the pensioner was drawing as dependent face.

be regarded as estitled to arrears to date of discharge. A mere letter is not regarded as a fessual application at the Pession Bureau when a formal application is required, as is the case in claims To invalid pension.

J. B. S. Memphis, Mo.—The pension money which a pensioner has drawn and saved in some form goes to his heirs-attaw at his death, in the absence of a will.

It is treated like any other money.

J. A. S., Cavendish, Vt.—The increase of pension allowed the soldier after his death can be collected by the widow as part of the accrued pension. If she is applying for whom's pension, probably it will be sufficient to embody in her application a reference to the accrued pension. plication a reference to the accrued pen-sion and claiming payment thereof to her-self. If the application is filed already arithmet such statement being embodied, probably it will be sufficient to file an unsworn statement as an application for the accrued pension. Spanish war pension claims come under the fee law of 1884 the same as other general law pension claims: a fee of $20 may be contracted for. Usually the Adjutant-Generals of the various States have very complete records. rious States have very complete records of the volunteers from their respective States that served in the war of the rebellion. It is very difficult to obtain information from the Way Department. Unless the soldier's entire military continues.

the soldier's entire military service in the war of the rebellion can be cleared of "descrition," his widow cannot obtain pension under the act of June 27, 1890.

BUFF COCHING—I WILL SELL A LIMITED number of eggs from my prine-winning Buff Cochins at $1.50 per setting. Chas. W. Bard, Grothersville, Indiana, Pa.—In claims for invalid pension under the act of June 27, 1890, the pension commences from the date of filing of the first application. In afficial practice it rather seldom happens that the pension is made to commence from the date of filing the first application if the claim has been rejected one or more times before it is finally at lower than the late. ow's rights do not intervene.

N. E. W., Columbia, Pa.—You have the privilege of moving a reconsideration of the adverse decision on your appeal to the Secretary of the Interior. It would be well to file in the Pension Bureau such additional evidence as you can procure, before filing said motion.

DEPARTMENT NEWS.

In claim of the widow of Charles H Morrill for restoration of pension, the Pension Bureau held claimant not to be the lawful widow of the soldier by reason of her remarriage. The decision on the appeal from this holding says (Asst. Secretary Miller, January 21, 1904): "This claim was rejected under instructions of the Commissioner, as evidenced by the following, which is a copy of slip over his personal signature:

"The claimant's marriage to Benjamin F. Parsons July 6, 1889, is shown by the records of Middlesex County, Mass., and the evidence shows that they lived together in the relation of husband and wife from that time until after November 27, 1896, when the former wife of Parsons died in Wichita, Kans., and the marriage became a lawful one under the laws of Massachu-setts, if it was not in fact a lawful marriage when entered into. "During all the time it is proposed to now pension this claimant she was living as the wife of another man, after a marriage to him believed by her to have been be permitted to deny the legality of her marriage to him, simply in order to obtain a pension as the widow of the first hus-band. "You may reject the claim for restora-tion on the ground that claimant remar-ried to one Benjamin F. Parsons July 6, 1889, and lived with him as his wife from that time until a short time before his death in 1809, and she is now his lawful-widow and not the widow of the soldier Charles H. Morrill.

"It is a universal principle of law in-dependent of statute, although there is a statute in Massachusetts to this effect, that a marriage contracted while either of the parties have a living or undivorced husband or wife is void ab initio.

"There is evidence, well-nigh conclusive, that Parsons when he married claimant had a living wife and that she was not divorced from him, either before his marriage to claimant or after. Claimant did not cohabit with Parsons after she discovered the memorandum regarding his form-er marriage, neither had she for some time part to obtain an annulment of her mar-riage unless she saw fit to do so. There was no common-law marriage possible, under the facts in this case, after the death of the second wife of Parsons, and it is evident, without any further discussion that the marriage of claimant and Parson was absolutely null and void, and that from its very date of consummation. Never having been Parson's wife she can not now be held to be his widow, and inasmuch as this marriage with Parsons was of no effect whatever, legally, she is unquestionably in the same status that she would have whatever, legally, she is unquestionably in the same status that she would have been had the marriage with Parsons never been celebrated; and such status is that of the widow of the soldier Morrill by which she seeks her restoration.

The facts in this case are clear and undisputed, the law applicable thereto is mentary, and it is difficulty what process.

F. M. L., Sammit Grove, Ind.—Harman was a widow, and inasmuch a marriage with Parsons was of no effect whatever, legally, she is unquestionably in the same status that she would have been had the marriage with Parsons never been celebrated; and such status is that of the widow of the soldier Morrill by which she seeks her restoration.

CTOP AND THINK.—IF YOU DON'T PURD chase some of the foliowing property; you will miss the chance of a lifetime.

Lansing, the Capital City of Michigan, has a population of over 20,000. It has over 100 manufacturing institutions, employing from 5 to 800 persons each; State Agricultural College, with over 1,000 sindents and having a national reputation, besides many other State Institutions with line buildings and grounds; four trunk line railroads; one electric road, with several more headed this way; fine churches and schools; Carnegie Library costing $35,000. It has one automobile factory employing 800 men, and several smaller ones, all of which will double their capacity within a year. In fact, Lansing is the center for the manufacture of automobiles and gasoline engines. The city is beautifully located at the confluence of the Grand and Cedar Rivers, is handsomely laid out, with straight, wide, shady streets, and is in fact an ideal city, with better prospects for future growth and development than any city of its size in Michigan. Notwithstanding all these advantages, real estate values are still down to hardpan and everybody is looking for sharp advances in the near future. Now is the time to invest.

415,000 will buy 65 acres invide the city limits. The Michigan Central R. R. run (through this tract, the Grand Trunk double track system along one end, and the Lake Shore within easy reach. Pennsylvania Ave., one of the finest streets in the city, runs along the east side of the land for 120 rods, and Mt. Hope Ave. for 80 rods on the south. It is an ideal tract for platting and for factory sites. Several large factories are located adjacent to this land. Within 60 rods E. Bement's Sons, the largest agricultural implement manufacturers in the State, have purchased 25 acres for a new factory site. Nothing in the city equals it, even at double the price asked for this. Don't delay, but write at once for particulars. We also have for sale 50 farms, at from $30 to 975 per acre, in
